

Four new machines for our production

[1]

July 2019 - As a complete solution provider in the construction of special machines, we not only have sales, development, service and assembly, but also a large-scale production. In this production, individual machine components are manufactured and processed in different ways. In order to maintain and optimize our great depth of production and its possibilities, investments in new production technology are necessary from time to time. Since July of this year, we have four new milling centers with state-of-the-art technology and software in operation. This investment, worth 1.4 million euros, enables us to work more dynamically and efficiently. This benefits not only our production staff, but also our customers.
